Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-8, drawn to a method of transforming a crop plant with a construct comprising two transgenes, wherein one transgene is deleterious to a weedy relative, in order to prevent survival of transgenic cross-pollinated weeds, classified in class 800, subclass 269, for example.
- II. Claims 9-16, drawn to a genetic construct comprising two transgenes, wherein one of the transgenes may confer male sterility, or may confer uniform or delayed ripening, and a crop plant containing the construct, classified in class 800, subclasses 303 or 290, for example.

The inventions are independent or distinct, each from the other because:

Inventions II and I are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the product comprising the male sterility gene can be used in a materially different process, such as the production of male-sterile cultivated crop plants for controlled pollination with male-fertile crop plants of the same species, in the production of hybrid cultivated crop species. Furthermore, the product comprising the uniform or delayed ripening gene can be used in a materially different process, such as the production of cultivated crop plants which are easier to harvest because of uniform ripening, or which accumulate maximum mass of harvestable product when grown in climates with a longer growing season due to delayed ripening.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, classification and fields of search, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to David T. Fox whose telephone number is 571-272-0795. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday through Friday from 10:30AM to 7:00PM.
